GovFin 2026 –

A Changing Climate for Municipal Disclosures

Tuesday, September 22, 11 AM - 5 PM ET || https://xbrl.us/govfin-2026

GovFin 2026 is the premier gathering for government finance professionals, technologists, and policymakers dedicated to the modernization of public sector financial reporting.

With implementation of the Financial Data Transparency Act's Final Rule now underway, this event serves as a critical forum for hearing the latest about GASB Taxonomy development, the impact of climate and municipal investing, and the transformative power of data analytics to manage and track fiscal health. Panelist presentations and discussion topics are designed to address the opportunities and challenges in data standards for meaningful change in regulatory data collection.

Join us as a partner in shaping the future of transparent, machine-readable financial data. The event is expected to draw 200+ participants with 50% of attendees drawn from public sector government finance officers and the research community.

The following page lists available packages as well as an Exclusive Digital Playback Sponsorship for this event. Complete and submit the form on page 3 to get your organization connected with decision-makers and thought-leaders, deepen brand awareness, forge new relationships and let regulators and the marketplace know about your organization and offerings.
